On The Lawn

with LARRY LAWRENCE

It isn't difficult to explain to a homeowner why seeding a lawn in the late summer or early fall is preferable to any other time of year. It is nature's own seeding time and growing conditions usually are more favorable.

It isn't so easy to show him why a late summer seeding is equally profitable. He sees his grass slowing down (less mowing). He very likely sees the evidence of a baking hot summer. And his natural instinct is to say "That's it for this season. Next year I'll get a good, early start."

Actually, if he could fertilize only once a year, this would be the best time to do it. The reason is that the right food triggers "tillering." Tillers are the new side shoots that make the turf thicker and thus help fill in the bare spots. By feeding now with a protein building fertilizer such as Turf Builder it is possible to make two or even four blades of grass grow where only one grew before.

Some lawns, as you've probably noticed, are quite exhausted and out of business by Labor Day. Others, on the same street stay green and attractive right up to December or beyond. That's another reward for those who fertilize from now on.

The Agawam Lions Club started their 23rd year with the first meeting of the year last night at Tinti's Restaurant. Guest speaker was Ted Shore and his subject was "Hockey as a Business."

King Lion John Mercadante presided and stressed the importance of every Lion participating to a greater or less extent at the Eastern States Chicken Bar-B-Que project during the third week of this month. Indications are that the Fair will have the largest attendance ever, and with 4 years of experience the Club would maintain the reputation of being one of the finest eating establishments on the grounds.

The next regular meeting will be on Wednesday night, Sept. 14, at the Eastern States Exposition.

Let us not forget the Agawam Civic Association presentation of Rev. Bob Richards on Sept. 21 at Springfield Auditorium. Tickets are only $1.00 and should have the support of all townspeople.

The Absentee Vote

In close elections, the absentee vote often decides the issue. In the 1960 presidential election, Richard M. Nixon carried the State of California by the absentee vote. There are countless examples of absentee votes making "the" difference between defeat and victory in close elections.

It has been estimated that there are nearly a million Americans presently outside the continental limits of the United States. In addition to this, there are always countless thousands of potential voters away from their home precincts on Election Day but still within the borders of the United States. The mobility of the American people makes the absentee ballot a highly significant factor in every election. It enables millions of American citizens who would otherwise be disenfranchised to cast a ballot for the man of their choice.

If you expect to be away from your permanent residence on Election Day, you owe it to yourself as a citizen to obtain an absentee ballot. The right to vote is the most fundamental of all our rights. The behavior and performance of officeholders, at every level of government, is dictated by the knowledge that periodically they must come before the bar of public opinion in the polling booths.

The caliber of men in public life is a direct reflection of the wisdom and judgement exercised by the voters. When it is time to vote, you are the only person in the booth. If you cannot be there personally, let the absentee ballot serve as your proxy.

"SCHOOL'S OPEN DRIVE CAREFULLY" CAMPAIGN

"A safe journey to and from school the first weeks of school year can set a pattern of safe walking and safe driving which will help keep our school children free of traffic accident involvement throughout the year," said Raymond A. Compton, safety director of the Automobile Club of Springfield.

This week, the AAA begins its local "School's Open Drive Carefully" campaign as part of an annual national campaign to keep school pedestrians safe. New, colorful "School's Open" posters and bumper strips have been distributed throughout the community to draw attention to this campaign.

Be especially alert in school areas, since for many children, this is the first time they've been completely on their own in a traffic environment. "Many youngsters," he pointed out, "have received no traffic safety education; thus, they are unaware of the potential hazards inherent in the motor vehicle-pedestrian relationship and tend to be overconfident in their actions. In addition, some of these children, particularly in suburban and rural areas, have not been exposed to safe walking aids, such as signs, signals, traffic police, sidewalks, pedestrian crosswalks, and school safety patrols."

AAA also asked parents to make sure their children are prepared to accept this new responsibility of being a safe pedestrian. The Automobile Club recommended that parents review safe walking rules with their children, and help them select the safest route to school.

To help reduce congestion and hazardous traffic conditions in the vicinity of school, the AAA official urged parents not to drive their children to school unless absolutely necessary.

"The sooner children learn to be responsible for themselves in traffic, the safer pedestrians they will be," said Mr. Compton.

Caution — School's Open — Drive Slowly

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By Bill Chiba

That snake in the grass seen by late summer and fall sportsmen may be a fish and not a reptile.

And, the outdoorsman who has more than casual appreciation of nature is seeing the first steps on a one-way trip to the altar for the lowly but love-smitten eel.

Like salmon, alewives and smelt, eels migrate to spawning grounds. But, their migration is a departure from the norm since they travel to a place deep beneath surface of the Atlantic to breed their young.

The England Aquarium says there is still much to be learned from this curious and little-known practice of the snake-like, freshwater creatures.

The eels begin heading for the sea shortly by traveling down rivers and streams or underground springs. When there is no way out of their old homes, they'll travel overland until they find more water, then continue their trip to a place about 1200 feet beneath the surface of the sea about 600 miles southeast of Bermuda.

Eels can adapt to an air environment for varying periods of time.

They spawn near the Sargasso Sea in an area adjacent to that chosen by their cousins, the European eels. Next spring, when the young eels are hardly larger than a small worm, they float toward the surface and are carried by the Gulf Stream.

About a year from now, the offspring of the eels in New England lakes and ponds will be about three inches long when they arrive off the coast.

It is believed the young eels can actually smell the presence of fresh water, and they swim toward it. While it's doubtful they return to the home of their parents, who died shortly after breeding, they do manage the reverse of the same arduous trip.

The eels apparently show little interest in romance until they arrive at that honeymoon spot. Most of the males are content with remaining in brackish estuaries near the ocean while the female hike their skirts for the longer trip inland.

Much of this is hard speculation based upon exhaustive research by biologists. However, New England Aquarium at 6 Long Wharf, Boston, would appreciate hearing from persons who see an eel out of water. The information will be helpful in the continuing research projects.

The Aquarium is a $4.3 million, non-profit enterprise now under construction on Central Wharf, Boston, adjacent to their current offices. It will open the fall of 1967.

Special Black Duck

A special black duck season for Massachusetts, Maine and New Hampshire has been approved by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, according to Jim Shepard, fish and game director.

Based on extensive trapping and banding research programs conducted mainly by Mass. waterfowl biologists last winter, the USF&WS has approved a special season for black ducks to run from Dec. 15, 1966 through Jan. 8, 1967. The daily bag limit will be four black ducks, the possession limit eight during this period. Shooting hours will be from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, Shepard reports, a liberalization of the sunrise opening hour of recent years.

Gunners will need a special permit in their possession, but there will be no fee. Details have yet to be worked out. The season will have to be held after the regular duck season has closed. In other words, the regular duck season must close by Dec. 14. The special season will apply only to lands and waters seaward from the line demarked by Rt. 1 south from the New Hampshire border to Rt. 3, thence to Rt. 6 in Bourne, thence westerly along Rt. 6 to the Rhode Island state line.

The season for scoters, eiders and old squaws will run from Sept. 25 through Jan. 10, inclusive. Daily bag may be seven sea ducks, possession limit fourteen, singly or in the aggregate.

Buzzy Drootin's Jazz Session Sun.

A jazz music session to end all jazz music sessions will be staged at Storowton Music Fair, Sunday, Sept. 11 when Wally eBach, producer at the West Springfield tent theater-in-the-round, presents Buzzy Drootin and his jazz family in one performance only at 8:30.

The Drootin jazz group, specializing in the type of music which made New Orleans famous, has played in all sections of this country and Europe. The Drootin "family" is internationally famous.

Supporting Buzzy Drootin, drummer and leader, who is a Boston native and once played at the Van Horn Club with Bobby Hackett, will be Claude Hopkins on the piano, Yank Lawsen on trumpet (former trumpeter with the Lawsen-Haggerty band), Zoot Sims, formerly with the Benny Goodman band, on tenor sax, Al Drootin, brother of the leader of the band, on soprano sax and clarinet and the great Vic Dickinson, trombonist, who has played with Count Basie and other big bands at the Newport jazz festival.

Reservations for this rare jazz festival at the West Springfield tent theater may be made by calling the Storowton box office.

Pay Rejected

Cincinnati

Just about everybody else may be trying to get a pay raise but not the volunteer fire fighters in suburban Fairfax.

The village council has received a letter from the Fairfax Volunteer Firemen's Association, signed by Rollie French, its president, who said the firemen had discussed the proposal to pay them.

"We do not desire any remuneration of any amount . . . and have absolutely no desire to add to the tax burden of the neighbors whom we serve," the letter read.

Fresh Berries Are Here

The end of summer signals the beginning of the fresh cranberry season. The berries are available from about mid-September through December.

'Any Wednesday' — Sept. 12-17

June Wilkinson in "Any Wednesday" at Storowton Music Fair Sept. 12 to 17. Ann Corio returns Sept. 26.

June Wilkinson, England's gift to the American stage and screen, will have the lead role of Ellen Gordon when Muriel Resnik's long-running comedy "Any Wednesday" comes to Storowton Music Fair for a week beginning Sept. 12.

The lead role in the play about a none-too-bright playgirl and her tycoon keeper who visits her in the penthouse he maintains as a business expense, shot Sandy Dennis to Broadway fame and subsequently took her to Hollywood. The comedy is now nearing its 1000th performance at the Musix Box in New York City.

Proof that the 24-year old Miss Wilkinson, who proudly admits to having a Playboy figure, is what American men are looking for, is found in the fact she has dominated the pages of Playboy in six different issues which constitutes a record for one girl.

June first performed at the age of six in England and laughingly admits, "then, I was not known for my physique." When she developed to her present stature, 44-20-36, she was a dancer at the Windmill in London, the theater that even the blitz couldn't close.

At 17, she came to this country at the invitation of a plastics company to pretty up the product at sales production meetings. When her contract expired she boldly called Hugh Hefner, Playboy publisher and soon was gracing the pages of his magazine.

She has appeared on TV, in films and sang with the late Spike Jones band. She made her dramatic debut in Los Angeles in the stage version of "Baby Doll." In "Fanny" she played the belly dancer; and in "Pajama Tops", which she toured for two years, she acquired enough to purchase two theaters in St. Petersburg, Fla.

GOOD and EVIL

Must human existence always be a mixture of good and evil? Is there a modern answer to this age-old riddle of creation? You're invited to hear how men today are finding, in a spiritual discovery, the underlying reality of life. In a one-hour public lecture Thomas A. McClain of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship will explore this subject: "The Key to the Mystery of Creation." Everyone is welcome to come and listen.

The Springfield Home Information Center will open their Fall season the week of Sept. 12th and registrations for various classes may be made over the phone or in person previous to that date.

Knitting will be featured this season and a new class is being scheduled for Wednesday evening Sept. 14th with Mrs. Barbara Gingras, of Agawam as instructor. Anyone who wishes to learn, or any others in need of help with their knitting are urged to take advantage of the facilities at the Center.

Classes in Crewel will continue, both for beginners on Thursday morning and workshops on Monday and Tuesday evenings and Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Florence Gideos will continue as instructor in Rug Making, both Hooking and Braiding and classes will be held each Friday beginning Sept. 30th, alternating the Rug Hooking and Rug Braiding.

Mrs. Gideos has recently returned from a two-week workshop in Hooking and is well qualified to pass on to others her experience and knowledge.

A Chair Re-Seating class will start on Friday afternoon, Oct. 7th. Those interested in such a group should contact the Center well before that date in order that proper material may be made available for the type of chair they intend to do.

The facilities of the Home Information Center are available to all ladies in the greater Springfield area. Their purpose is to interpret homemaking in the broadest sense and to give to women every possible aid in securing any knowledge or skill that may promote happiness and efficiency in the home.

Why not call the Center today—733-7315 and find out what they can do for you?
